LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1868

Resolved, That it is unnecessary for us to declare what are and what are not Democratic principles. They are too well understood to need such declaration. It is enough to say that neither secession nor e ustruction are Democratic ideas. excep upon these ideas, no party can, nor will, nor should obtain power in this Government. Believing that these views are held by a wast majority of the people of Kentucky, who have acted and are now acting with the two Democratic orwantzations of this State we see no pre-largely of men in whose wisdom, patriotism, and integrity, the whole people have the fullest confidence.

Those two parties claim to be in full affiliation with the Northern Democracy and Conservatives, and will each support the ticket presented by the National Convention. It is of the utmost importance, in the judgment of each of these parties, that all their inlinence and moral force shall be combined to secure the election of that ticket; for in it is involved the lest hopes of civil liberty in this country.

In such a contest then, us this, involving such momentons interests, it seems to us, connected with the Conservatives and Union Democracy of Kentucky, that all

A State convention has been called by that wing of the Democracy which sup-orted los. John L. Helm for Governor. They will appoint delegates to the nation of his opinions. We commend it to the reading public. Beyond dispute the author is intellectually a man of very spleudid promise. His genius as yet may be in a somewhat nebulons state, but, when it cools and consolidates, it promises to be a star of the first magnitude, shedding light and glory through the literary heavens. We shall watch its development with lively interest.

Frum the Columbus Correspondence of the Car THE NOMINATION OF MR. PENDLETON OF PRESIDENT—EXTRAORDINARY SCENE. have just witnessed a scene which will long be remembered in the political histo-ry of Ohio, and which is destined to have tremendous influence upon the future politics of the country. So intense, so iniversal was the feeling in favor of the Hon. George II. Pendleton as the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States, that the great representation of the Ohio Democracy, in State Convention, broke through all usual cus-loms and precedents in order to give it lumediately after the appointment of immediately after the appointment of the ordinary committees relating to the business of the convention, a resolution was moved that all resolutions be referred to the Committee on Resolutions without debate. At this juncture General George W. McCook, of Jefferson, arose and stated that other conventions were in season. that other conventions were in session, and that, if the matter was delayed, Ohio might not have the honor of first presenting her favorite son for the Presidency, the Hon. George H. Pendleton. He therefore moved au annendment that all forms and preliminaries be dispensed with, and that, without waiting for any report from the Committee on Resolutions, the Democracy of Ohio do now nominate Mr. Pendleton, and send greeting to other State conventions which are now in session.

econded from all quarters of the house, ith loud and deafening cries for the ucstion. The amendment was then fiered by Judge Tarbill, of Brown. It was put by the temporary l'resident, Judge Jewett, and adopted by a deafen'ng aye, that fairly made the old building echo. Amid the greatest enthusiasm, a comnittee of two was nominated and cleeted to wait upon Mr. Pendleton and request its presence at the Convention. The Capir to wait upon Mr. Pendleton and request his presence at the Convention. The Caair selected General George W. McCook and Judge Tarbill as such committee.

In a few moments they returned in company with Mr. Pendleton. As soon as the manly form of Okio's favorite son was descried appreaching the stage, there ensued wild enthusiasm and immense plandics of gratification. They increased to a perfect storm when he appeared on the stage, the orm when he appeared on the stage, the whole convention rising and giving three cheers. He was then introduced by the Hon. Hugh J. Jewett in some beautiful and appropriate imprompts remarks, to which Mr. Pendleton made a briet but most feeling and eloquent response. The whole score was one that will never be nessed it. The spectators participated warmly in the whole proceedings, and yied with the convention in demonstra-

I thank you for the ap-oval of my convictions, my character, d ny conduct; but, gentlemen, I thank country from the tried, the true, and the tri-compliant Democracy of my own native State—a Democracy which, by its patient and devoted courage, its heroic efforts, and its unswerving fidelity to sound prin-tiple, has achieved within the last year an urparalleled success, and, in the short space of the years, has brought us unparalleled success, and, in the short space of five years, has brought us up from a minority of a hundred thousand to a majority in the State.

The issues that were presented last year were well worthy of the struggle. They were to sustain the supremacy of our white race and prevent the Africanization of the States of the Union, and the protection of our own State of Ohio from hybridation. They were to raise from the shoulders of a suffering and over-taxed and oppressed people the burdens about and oppressed people the burdens about to be put on them, and to lead them into a new exerer opprosperity and these same issues are to be settled in the coming conwhole country. A CARD FROM MR. BRUCE.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal Having duly considered the various expressions of opinion which have come to me in favor of my becoming a candidate for Judge of the Sixth Judicial District, composed of Jefferson, Oldham, Shelby, Spencer, and Bullitt counties, I have consented to allow my name to be used for that purpose, and you are authorized to announce me a candidate for Circuit

H. W. BRUCE. Mr. Bruce is well known to the people of the Sixth District. And to those who know him well be needs no recommendation from us or from anybody else. He is a lawyer of high abilities and of extensive learning, and a man of stainless probity. He would make an upright, firm, impartial, able, and enlightened judge.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT. There was an immense crowd congregated in Brownsboro College a few evenings since, to witness the regular exercises of the S. J. L. Society, a club of young men of both Jefferson and Oldham counties.

THE LOUISVILLE BRIDGE. - The Cincinrati Gazette s Washington special of the 8th says Captain Bryson, representing the Central Committee on River Improvement, has been investigating certain complaints made regarding the method in which the bridge at Louisville is being constructed. It is seserted that while the law authorizing it provides that it shall be at the head of the falls, it has really been becan at one of the most dangerons portions of the falls, and where the current makes it most difficult to control boats. It is also charged that the law is not being followed in regard to the number of draws. A resolution will be offered in the House in a few days, ordering the Secretary of War to cause General Weitzel, now in charge of an engineering party at Lon isville, to examine the work and plans and specifications, and report whether the same is in accordance with the law authorizing the construction of the bridge. A NARROW ESCAPE. - Yesterday, while the scavengers were moving the ashes on Third street, the horses of one of the carts became frightened at some object on the pavement, and started in a gallop, thus precipitating the driver headlong on the frozen ground between the fore and hind wheels, another revolution of either of which would have crushed his body in atoms, but, by some unaccountable means, the once unruly quadrupeds pansed, seemingly unconscious that by so doing they had saved a human being from eternity. When the unfortunate man was extricated from the fearful predicament he made use of some Scriptural quotations. Not being near enough we were unable to hear distinctly, but presume it was: "Dust thou ait, and unto dust shalt thon return."

THE FESTIVAL .- A grand festival came off at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association last night, which continues for two mere nights. Owing to the great press of matter, it is utterly im possible forns to give a minute description of it, but we will take occasion to do so in our next issue. Suffice it, at present, to say that no affair of the kind ever took place in our city that was gotten up in better style, or was a source of more pleasure to those in attendance. The ladies-God bless them !-sent us a waiter full of the choicest delicacies their richly laden tables afforded, for which we tender our sincere thanks, and a wish that they may always be as happy as their pure hearts deserve to be. CHURCH ROBBERT .- Some mean, sneaking, paltry, miserable, wretched thief stole the contents of the childrens' contribution box from the Catholic Church, on the corner of Clay and Walnut streets, sometime

Onr skating friends, especially the ladies, have been anticipating a gay season, for they have delightful remembrances of last winter and the gay and brilliant carnival at Cedar Hill Park. Their hopes, we trust, will be more than realized under the management of Messrs. Ormsby and Damesnil, so look out for the red

"LORD ISAACS" ONCE MORE. - The celebrated George Rallston, alias Lord Isaacs, was arrested by Officer Ryan, yesterday. in a state of the most woe-begone drunkenness. He had in his possession, early yesterday morning, a counterfeit $10 note and no other money. He tried to pass it at Schad's saloon, on Sixth street, but failed. When found last night he had a new hat and some other new articles of clothing, but was minus the "X." It is supposed his lordship "shoved it."

Mr. J. J. Cain, it will be seen, is a candidate for the place of Clerk of the Circuit Court. Mr. Cain is too well known in this community to require any endorsement from us. He has been a faithful, reliable man in every department he has ever undertaken to fill, and is eminently qualified for any office he is at all likely I to aspire to.

An exchange of opinions was very generally indulged in by members of Senate and House in their respective capacities this forenoon, upon matters, however, of local importance, and a like report must be made in regard to their action for some weeks to come, though, forsooth, a question may be sprung at any hour that will unmask all batteries and bring about a general and exciting engagement.

> THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS, appointed prior to the adjournment, meets to night to-just here we find ourself at sea-with our political compass pointing in every direction but the right one, but a few incautious words dropped from the lips of one of the initiated leads as to be lieve that business concerning the Democratic convention, to be held here on the 22d of February next, will be the order of the night. Closed doors will bar the progress of all but the elect, and this, although militating against our prying propensities, we regard as eminently just and proper, for a caucus is generally regarded as a secret meeting, whose proceedings msy not he made public without more or less tainting the honor of the participant. BOUSE.

Mr. Eggleston offered a resolution reciting that by the law enacted February 17, 1865, authorizing the construction of a bridge at Lonisville over the Ohio, it was specially provided that such bridge should be erected above the falls, should be constructed with at least three draws, and should in no way interfere with the navigation of the river, and it was carrently reported that the bridge now being con-etructed was in flagrant violation of these provisions, almost a serious obstruction to provisions, almost a serious construction to navigation, and resolving that the Secre-tary of the Treasury be instructed to cause an examination of the said bridge by a curps of United States engineers. BOATS IN PORT.

In September last we published an account of a bold robbery committed a short time previously, or an old man named William Fisher, who lives about a mile couth of Casey, Clark county. The account stated that three desperadoes rushed in in open day light and seized the old man while he and his daughter were seated at the breakfast table, and demanded his money. The daughter was also seized, bound, gagged, and blindfoiled. In the struggle, the old man was beaten unmercifully over the head with the but of a revolver and a stone, the latter of which was afterwards found lying in the yard all covered with blood. Ther obtained $55, which was aft the money the old man had in the house, and left him almost dead and his danghter in the condition we have above described her, and coolly rode off. A case of great importance to the English press, and also, as a precedent, to the press of the United States, was decided yesterday, in the Court of Queen's Bench, by the Lord Chief Justice and a special jury. Mr. Rigby Nason presented a petition to Parliament last session, accusing the Chief Baron, Sir Fitzroy Kelley, with having needed his hance to a Gaty; also nine barges and a two-thirds' interest in the wharfboat used by the Illiois River Company and Naples packets.

The terms are as follows: One-half cash alance on four months' eredit. Sr. Lotis -The Republican of the 8th ley, with having pledged his honor to a false statement some thirty years ago. For reporting the debates upon this absurd petition, and for commenting upon these debates editorially. Mr. Nason brought a libel suit against the Times. The jury found for the defendant, of course: but the important point was that the Lord Chief Justice emphatically and authoristively declared that a fair and impartial report of Parliamentary debates was a matter of privilege, as was also an honest and candid editorial upon the subject. This decision will cover all newspaper reports of public meetings, and is of inestimable value in protecting the press from authoryance. No similar decision has ever been given in England ladire, and none, I think, in the United States y, with having pledged his honor to a The weather yesterday was dark, gloomy, and biting cold.
